THE UNCROWNED SOVEREIGNTY OF MAN.

The uncrowned sovereignty of man
Who daily earns his bread,
On whom earth's idlers coldly frown,
And fierce as lions tread,
Is he to whom I am allied,
Whose wrongs I'll ever sing;
A brawny toiler at the forge,
At heart a real king.

Oh! there is not in all the world
Such glory to be found,
As circles him whose hopeful heart
With labor's love is bound.
Oh! where would be the sterling gold
That's worn by drowsy drones;
And where would be the monarch's wealth,
The pomp of transient thrones.

If labor ceased to use its skill,
Its lustrous deeds and ways,
Like summer's beauties when the sun
All golden roofs the days?
For there are melodies that start
From labor's mighty cords,
As ever thrilled the human heart,
Fired with a blaze of words.

The toilers shed their bitter tears
For friends and kindred gone;
Yet, grand as thunder in the storm,
Sublimely struggle on.
The tyrants shed their fellows' blood,
And talk of heaven's decree;
Then strike like murderers where a State
Is burning to be free.

Ah! let the silken dandies scorn
The toilers of the land;
But let me feel the worker's heart,
His hand and wrinkled hand;
And let me labor for his class,
And win his honest thanks;
And I will own a joy unfelt
In fashion's pampered ranks.

HOW THE MONEY GOES

BY JOHN G. SANK.

How goes the money?—Well,
I'm sure it isn't hard to tell;
It goes for rents and water rates,
For bread and butter, coal and grates,
Hats, caps and carpets, hoops and hose,
And that's the way the money goes!

How goes the money?—Nay,
Don't everybody know the way?
It goes for bunnies, coats and capes,
Silks, satins, muslins, velvets, crapes,
Shawls, ribbons, furs, fur-belows,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—Sure,
I wish the ways were somewhat fewer!
It goes for wages, taxes, debts,
It goes for presents, goes for bets,
For paints, pomade and eau de rose,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—Now,
I've scarce begun to mention how;
It goes for feathers, laces, rings,
Toys, dolls and other baby's things,
Whips, whistles, candies, bells and bows,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—Come,
I know it don't go for rum;
It goes for schools and Sabbath chimes,
It goes for charity sometimes,
For missions and such things as those,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—There,
I'm out of patience, I declare!
It goes for plays and diamond pins,
For public alms and private sine,
For hollow shams and silly shows,
And that's the way the money goes.

The following dialogue on "sharp shooting," is reported to have taken place between a Virginian and a Yankee picket:

"I say, can you fellows shoot?"

"Wall, I reckon we can some. Down in Mississippi we can knock a humble-bee off a thistle-bow at three hundred yards."

"Oh, that ain't nothing to the way we shows up in Vermont. I belonged to a military company there, with a hundred men in each company, and we went out for practice every week. The cap'n draws us up in single file, and sets a cider barrel rolling down the hill, and each man takes his shot at the bug hole as it turns up. It is afterwards examined, and if there is a shot that didn't go in the bug-hole, the member who missed it is expelled. I belonged to the company ten years, and there ain't been nobody expelled yet."

A SANGUINARY BRIGADIER.—General James S. Brisban, who commands the negro troops in central Kentucky, and whose outrageous rule there for nearly a year past has so frequently given occasion to public comment and public protest, has been writing letters and making declarations meantime, that have savored of the most atrocious spirit and the craziest fanaticism. In a late letter he says:

"There is much bad blood in Kentucky, and I think a little blood-letting would do good, especially here in the Blue Grass region, where the people seem determined to be troublesome."

Hon. George W. Julian made a speech in Indianapolis on the 17th, in which he took the high-pressure radical ground, advocated negro equality and the like.

EVERGREEN NURSERIES.

Situated one mile from the Court House,

CANTON, Miss.

THE undersigned have this day formed a copartnership under the style of T. J. DRANE & CO. for the purpose of carrying on the Nursery business at all its branches. It is the intention of the proprietors to propagate in the Fruit Department, choice varieties only, and such as are well adapted to the soil and climate of the South, ripening in succession over the fruit season. Consequently, purchasers will be positively protected against disappointment.

Every new variety of fine fruit shall be added to our catalogue, as soon as tested and proved to be suited to the climate.

All trees and plants will be carefully labeled and packed in the best manner for any part of the South, for which a moderate charge will be made; and no charge will be made for delivery of packages at the railroads.

It is requested that explicit directions be given for marking and shipping packages, but in all cases, when shipment is made the articles are at the risk of the purchaser.

All orders from unknown correspondents must be accompanied with a remittance, draft, or satisfactory reference.

Our customers are requested to notify us immediately of any error that may be committed in filling their orders, in order that we may at once make amends.

Catalogues will be forwarded to all who apply, post paid, and enclose a stamp to prepay the postage. T. J. DRANE & CO.
Sept. 14-65. 1y.
